Instrumental Lessons

Offering peripatetic music teaching within schools We Teach Music is headed up by teacher and performing artist Dan Clews. Our motto is "We Teach The Music You Love". We keep it fun and enjoyable using the songs our students love to pass on the invaluable gift of music.

Lesson Content

- We Teach Music approaches music teaching from a contemporary angle, it is our aim to have the students learning the songs they love, understanding the theory behind the music, playing their own material and interacting with each other in ensembles and bands
- We believe firmly in a solid foundation in both theory and technique and use popular music to convey this, making those first steps both enjoyable and enriching
- We teach the Rock School syllabus and classical grades in line with Trinity and ABRSM syllabus. Grades above 5 count as UCAS points!!!
- It is our aim to combine creativity with targeted instrumental skills

Times and Days

- Lessons take place during school hours
- Lesson times are on a rotation so students don't miss the same school lesson each week

Payment

- We Teach Music liaises directly with the parents to arrange payment
- The price will be £21 per half hour lesson
- There are usually between 10-12 lessons taught per term

Instruments

- It is essential that students have access to their own instrument
- We supply instruments - please contact us direct if you would like advice on buying an instrument.
